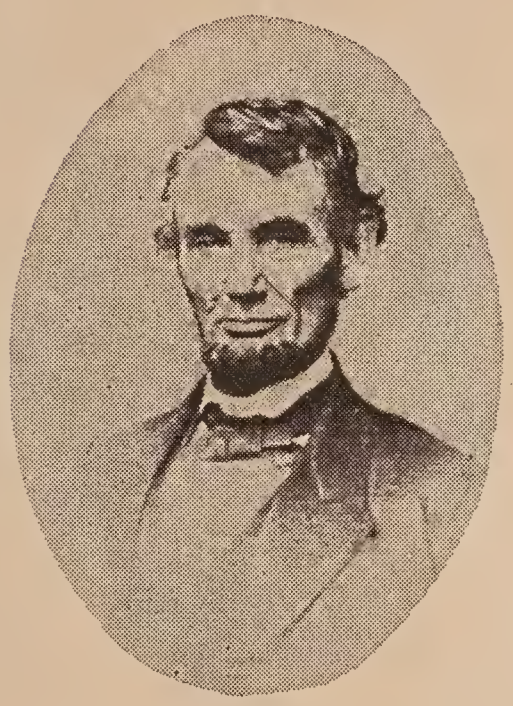
Address Delivered at the Dedication of the Cemetery at Gettysburg, November 19, 1863.



FOUR-SCORE and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this; but, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

Tomb of the Unknown

Calmly they sleep beneath the living verdant sod,
Unknown by us, but known by the Eternal God.
At roll-call, after resurrection bugles blow,
They will be there and meet loved ones of long ago.

Star Spangled Banner

Oh! say, can you see by the dawn's early light
  What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming—
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
  O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
Oh! say does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

Oh! thus be it ever when freemen shall stand
  Between their loved homes and the war's desolation,
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
  Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto—"In God is our trust"—
And the Star-Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

Tenting on the Old Camp Ground

We're tenting tonight on the old camp-ground;
  Give us a song to cheer
Our weary hearts—a song of home
  And friends we love so dear!

Chorus:
Many are the hearts that are weary tonight,
  Wishing for the war to cease;
Many are the hearts looking for the right,
  To see the dawn of peace.
Tenting tonight, tenting tonight,
Tenting on the old camp-ground.

We've been tenting tonight on the old camp-ground,
  Thinking of days gone by;
Of the loved ones at home, that gave us the hand,
  And the tear that said Good-bye!
Chorus:

America

My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
  Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side
  Let freedom ring!

Our father's God, to thee,
Author of liberty,
  To thee I sing;
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might,
  Great God our King.

The following is a copy of General Orders No. 11, issued by Commander-in-Chief John A. Logan, May 5, 1868, which by action of the Forty-fifth National Encampment is required to be read as a part of the public exercises on each Memorial Day in addition to Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

HEADQUARTERS GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5, 1868.

General Orders, No. 11.

I. The 30th day of May, 1868, is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers, or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion, and whose bodies now lie in almost every city, village and hamlet churchyard in the land. In this observance no form or ceremony is prescribed, but Posts and comrades will, in their own way, arrange such fitting services and testimonials of respect as circumstances may permit.

MAJ. GEN. JOHN A. LOGAN

We are organized, Comrades, as our Regulations tell us, for the purpose among other things, "of preserving and strengthening those kind and fraternal feelings which have bound together the soldiers, sailors and marines who united to suppress the late rebellion." What can aid more to assure this result than by cherishing tenderly the memory of our heroic dead who made their breasts a barricade between our country and its foes? Their soldier lives were the reveille of freedom to a race in chains and their deaths a tattoo of rebellious tyranny in arms. We should guard their graves with sacred vigilance. All that the consecrated wealth and taste of the nation can add to their adornment and security is but a fitting tribute to the memory of her slain defenders. Let no wanton foot tread rudely on such hallowed ground. Let pleasant paths invite the coming and going of reverent visitors and fond mourners. Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect, no ravages of time, testify to the present or to the coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided republic.

If other eyes grow dull and other hands slack, and other hearts cold in the solemn trust, ours shall keep it well as long as the light and warmth of life remain in us.

Let us, then, at the time appointed, gather around their sacred remains, and garland the passionless mounds above them with choicest flowers of springtime; let us raise above them the dear old flag they saved from dishonor; let us in this solemn presence renew our pledges to aid and assist those whom they have left among us a sacred charge upon the Nation's gratitude—the soldier's and sailor's widow and orphan.

II. It is the purpose of the Commander-in-Chief to inaugurate this observance with the hope that it will be kept up from year to year, while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of his departed comrades. He earnestly desires the public press to call attention to this Order, and lend its friendly aid in bringing it to the notice of comrades in all parts of the country in time for simultaneous compliance therewith.

III. Department commanders will use every effort to make this Order effective.

By Command of

N. P. CHIPMAN,
Adjutant-General

JOHN A. LOGAN,
Commander-in-Chief.
